Senior Consultant – Regulatory Affairs – Sydney Office

Our Company

Brandwood Biomedical is a leading consultancy based on the lower north shore in Sydney - providing technical, regulatory and commercial advisory services to the Medical Devices and IVD industry.

Our services support the whole product life-cycle, from investment readiness and due diligence to development and implementation of global regulatory strategies. Key service areas include quality systems, regulatory submissions, market representative services, comprehensive postmarket support including adverse events, recalls and advertising and labelling compliance, and preparation of expert technical reports including biocompatibility and clinical evaluations.

The Role

Due to continuing growth in our client base, we are seeking to expand our team with an experienced Senior Consultant to support our growing client services in Australia and the Asia Pacific. Reporting directly to the CEO, the successful candidate will be an established regulatory professional with wide ranging experience and an international perspective.

We are seeking individuals who can provide leadership to our consulting team and deal directly at senior level with regulators and clients in Australia and overseas. You must have an ability to undertake and lead complex regulatory projects with a focus on results and commercial outcomes.

Regulations continue to evolve at a fast pace and you need to be strategic, innovative and adaptable to be able to succeed in the face of constant change.

Our ideal candidate will have:

- Technical qualifications in a relevant discipline (Science, Engineering);
- 5-10+ years in regulatory or quality management in medical device, diagnostics, biotechnology or consulting environment;
- Significant hands-on experience in the preparation of regulatory and technical submissions, reports and documentation and of leadership in complex regulatory projects;
- Ability to coach, mentor and lead a team with empathy and integrity.

This is an exciting opportunity to join a leading consultancy with considerable opportunity for development and for international experience.
